MICROPIGMENTATION PERMANENT COSMETICS

This is the "make-up of the future"! Imagine saving 15 min a day, or 92 hours a year, from application of your regular makeup. Yes, it is cosmetic tattooing!! Women and men of all ages and backgrounds benefit from permanent makeup. Everyone from athletes and professional actors, and dancers, to those who suffer from arthritis and muscle disorders find permanent makeup a life saver. Clients with alopecia or other hair loss can finally enjoy not having to apply "eyebrows" everyday. After surgical procedures, repigmentation can be done to camouflage scars and imperfections. After breast cancer and reconstructive surgery, techniques can be used to create the illusion of areolas and nipples. Others who have benefited from micropigmentation include burn survivors, and those born with disfiguring birth marks. An electrical instrument with probes, or needles is used to place pigment into the skin. A topical cream is used to numb the area. The procedures take from 1½ to 2 hours and you will need to return for an additional "perfecting" session. Generally, there is some swelling and tenderness to the treated area.
